President Roosevelt Has Matter Under Advisement.

THEODORE PRICE IS INDIGNANT

New York Cotton Broker Denies Emphatically that He Has Been in Anywise Implicated with Reported Cotton Statistics Leakage.

Oyster Bay, July 11.—It is reported here as not unlikely that criminal prosecution may result from the investigation of the cotton report leak in the department of agriculture. The subject has not yet been presented to the president in a formal way, although he is familiar with most of the details of the inquiry. United States District Attorney Beach, of Washington, was of the opinion after a cursory examination of a part of the evidence adduced in the investigation that a criminal proceeding would not lie against Assistant Statistician Holmes, who is alleged to have profited by giving advance information of the condition of the cotton crop to certain brokers. The department of justice is not inclined to accept this view of the case. While no decision to institute criminal proceedings has been reached the subject is being considered by Attorney General Moody who later will take the matter up with the president. No matters of importance had engaged the president had taken his usual the president had taken his usual morning air and plunge in the bay he took up with Secretary Loeb a large amount of official business.

Mr. Price in Washington.

Washington, July 11.—Theodore H. Price, of New York, arrived in Washington Sunday, and, through his attorney, requested Secretary Wilson to withdraw what Mr. Price characterized as the unjust, offensive and unsustained charges and implications" contained in the report made recently in connection with the removal of Edwin S. Holmes, Jr., assistant statistician of the department of agriculture.

Mr. Price stated later that Secretary Wilson has his request under consideration.

Secretary Wilson told Mr. Price, as he had William M. Irvine, his attorney, earlier in the day, that he had no statement to make along the lines requested. The secretary explained in detail how the matter had been brought to his attention by Mr. Van Riper through Mr. Cheatham and he had in turn referred it to the secret service division of the treasury department, by the officials of which the investigation had been conducted. Their report had been made to him and he in turn made it public. What had been made public, therefore, the secretary explained, was entirely the work of the secret service, except that portion of his statement which related to the organization of the statistician's office. Under the circumstances, he added, he did not feel called on to make an explanation or withdraw anything that had been given out if Mr. Cheatham saw fit to make a statement regarding the matter, as Mr. Price told the secretary, Mr. Cheatham had, that was very well and good.

Mr. Cheatham was very much surprised when he first noticed in the report given out by Secretary Wilson to the press the name of Mr. Theodore Price mentioned so prominently in connection with the case, as he did not know of any evidence having been presented or secured by any one that would warrant the use of Mr. Price's name in connection with the affair.

Secretary Wilson Stands Pat.

Washington, July 11.—That Secretary Wilson intends to take no step backward in his report on the cotton [illegible] was evidenced by be filed against him by Mr. Price or others mentioned in the report. In fact, he said he would welcome such action because it might be the means of developing such facts not already uncovered and which it was desirable to know.

"This is a quarrel among gamblers," he said, "brought about by the dissatisfaction of some of them in not getting what they thought was their due. I have nothing to take back. As the head of an executive department of the government it was my duty and right to give to the public the result of the investigation by the secret service agents into the charges which had been filed leading up to the dismissal of Mr. Holmes."

The secretary added that he had given consideration to Mr. Price's request as presented through his attorney, William M. Ivins of New York, "to withdraw the unjust, offensive and unsustained charges and implications." and had reached the determination to take no further action in the matter. He said he would not communicate with Mr. Price or his attorney in any way.

JUMPED TO HIS DEATH.

Fire in New York Results Fatally Dead Man Leaves Three Children.

New York, July 11.—One man killed two persons are missing and several others narrowly escaped death by suffocation early today in a fire in East Forty-fourth street. The man who was killed was Arthur Neely. He leaped from the fourth floor of one of the two buildings which were on fire, landing on the sidewalk on his head, and he died on the way to a hospital. Two persons were seen at front windows of one of the burning buildings and it is believed their bodies are in the ruins.

Arthur Neely, who lost his life in the fire in East Forty-first street today, belonged in Chicago. He was a brother of F. Tennyson Neely, the publisher, of this city.

Neely leaves three children. Their mother was killed in a railroad wreck several years ago and they now are with an aunt in Cleveland, O., with whom their father left them two weeks ago to come to the city for a business trip with the idea of locating here.

The two persons who were missing have been found. They escaped without injury.

Officials Must Enforce Laws.

Springfield, Mo., July 11.—Governor Folk officiated at the cornerstone laying of the new St. John's hospital. He said, among other things: "It is an honor to be governor of any state and especially so to be governor of Missouri. The Missouri idea is that public officials must obey and enforce the laws. We have been told that we could not enforce the dramshop laws in the great cities, but the saloons have been closed in the three greatest cities of our state, and I say to you that they will continue to be closed on Sundays so long as I am governor. If you people of Missouri don't want the laws enforced put a man in office who will ignore his oath."

Brace Aeronaut Saves Woman.

Lynn, Mass., July 11.—With a straight drop of 1,000 feet to what seemed certain death, William Canfield, a Boston aeronaut, leaped from his balloon over Lynn commons in order to save Mrs. Camille Stafford, a woman aeronaut, who ascended with him. She escaped unhurt. He was badly injured by striking the side of a house as his parachute swung in the strong wind. Five thousand people witnessed his startling descent. The balloon was found to be leaking and the gas escaping rapidly. Mrs. Stafford leaped some time after Canfield left the balloon, striking an apple tree from which she was rescued unhurt.

Will Meet at Portsmouth.

Washington, July 11.—Assistant Secretary Pierce today anounced that the plenipotentiaries of Russia and Japan had agreed upon Portsmouth, N. H., as the meeting place of the sessions of the peace sessions to be held outside of Washington. The sessions will be held in the government naval yard at Portsmouth in the new building for [illegible]

THREE DEAD FROM BOILER EXPLOSION

Carelessness On Part Of the Fireman Was the Cause.

ENGINE WAS BLOWN 75 YARDS

Wagons Were Demolished; Two Oxen Killed; Lumber and Timber Scattered—Saw Mill is a Total Wreck. List of Those Killed.

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 11—A special to the News from Huntsville, Ala., says that by the carelessness of Allen Hall, a fireman, three men are dead and Couch's sawmill at Golightly, Ala., is a total wreck. The dead:

Frank Wallace.
Allen Hall.

The engine was blown 75 yards, and every drop of water in a well 18 feet deep drawn out. Wagons were demolished, two oxen killed and lumber and timber scattered in all directions.

RANCHMAN IS MURDERED.

Decoyed from His Home to a Deserted Cabin and Killed.

Cheyenne, Wyo., July 11—According to information received from Thermopolis, Major Bob McCoy, a well-known ranchman, residing on the big Horn river, above Thermopolis, was murdered several days ago by assassins who had decoyed him to a deserted cabin and shot him in the back as he was about to enter.

His body was then weighted with rocks and sunk in the river. Several times during the past few months McCoy has received anonymous letters, warning him to leave the country and threatening his life. In each of these messages the statement was made that if it became necessary to kill him one of his ears would be cut off in order that others who had been warned to leave might know how he came to his death. One of the ears of the corpse is missing. Indignation in Thermopolis county is high and every effort is being made to apprehend the murderers.

FEDERAL COURT TO TRY POWERS

Will Have to Answer to Charge of Murdering Wm. Goebel.

Georgetown, Ky., July 11.—The case of the commonwealth against former secretary of state, Caleb Powers, charged with complicity in the murder of William Goebel, was continued today pending the federal courts. As soon as court convened Judge Stout called the case against Caleb Powers, which was set for trial today. District attorney Franklin arose and said:

"Since the calling of this special term of court, the defendant has petitioned for a removal of his case to the eastern Kentucky district of the federal court. Judge Cochran has assumed jurisdiction and from the decision of Judge Cochran the commonwealth appeals to the supreme court of the United States. I, therefore, move that this case be continued and this court do now adjourn."

The court so ordered.

Fire Fighters Seriously Burned.

New York, July 11.—Five men have been seriously burned during a fire fighting performance at Coney Island and were taken to hospitals. Flames, instead of pouring out of a window at which the men were stationed, were driven back by "back draught" into their faces. They were burned about the face and body and inhaled the flames. Before ladders could be raised, the men leaped to the ground, a distance of 35 feet. Some of them are believed to be fatally injured.

Stabbed Near His Home.

New York, July 11.—John Costello, a merchant of this city, has been fatally stabbed at his summer home on Staten Island. He was entertaining a number of guests, and it is said, left the house to resent remarks made by a [illegible] one of whom is [illegible]

Delegations From Every Section of the United States Present.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 11.—The twelfth annual reunion of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks began here today. Delegations from all parts of the country began to pour into the city and the expectations for a large attendance are being realized. The number of the grand lodge members already here establishes a new record for that body.

It is conceded that there will be no opposition to the slated advance of last year's officers one notch higher than the places they are now holding. There are several candidates in the field for the two vacancies on the board of grand trustees caused by the prospective election of Robert W. Brown, of Louisville, as grand exalted ruler and the expiration of the term of John D. O'Shea, of Lynn, Mass. These are the only offices to furnish the semblance of a contest.

Grand Treasurer John K. Tenor, of Charleroi, Pa., said his report to the Grand Lodge, which would be substituted Tuesday would show the order to be in splendid financial condition.

VOLCANO IN LOUISIANA.

Crater Seventy Feet in Diameter Is Started by Burning Oil Well.

New Orleans, July 11.—Louisiana has a volcano in active eruption, with a crater 70 feet in diameter, which is daily growing larger. This volcano started nearly three months ago from a burning oil well which was brought in as a "gusher" and which was set afire within a few days of its opening.

No sooner did it begin to burn than the 10-inch hole through which the burning oil and gas were coming began to widen. The derrick and machinery disappeared in the hole, and the work of destruction continued. Surrounding buildings have been falling into the cavity, which seems to be bottomless. Great trees growing near by have been uprooted and have disappeared. In the meantime the burning oil and gas are being thrown high into the air, earth and stones being carried up with them.

Cotton Mills Are Prosperous.

Columbus, Ga., July 11.—The directors of the Eagle and Phoenix mills have set aside the sum of $45,000 for the purpose of paying the next two semi-annual dividends on the company's stock. These dividends will be of 3 per cent each, payable Oct. 1, 1905, and April 1, 1906, respectively. This is the same dividend earned by Eagle and Phoenix mill stock last year. This is regarded as a fair dividend, considering the enlargement of the plant and general improvements in the way of buildings and machinery in recent years, costing a large amount of money. As much money will be spent for new machinery this year as will be paid to the stockholders in the shape of dividends.

Englishmen Witness Bull Fight.

New York, July 11—A bull fight was given in honor of the Mediterranean fleet, under the command of Lord Charles Beresford, says a Barcelona dispatch to the Herald. Twenty thousand people were present, including officers of the fleet and 700 sailors, who were cheered enthusiastically. The national anthems of Spain and Great Britain were played. The fleet was illuminated in the evening. The cruiser squadron sailed from Villagarcia at night, the ships being illuminated with electric lights, the flagship having a design of the crown of Spain.

Epidemic of Sunstrikes.

New York, July 11.—Telegrams from prefects of provinces to the Italian minister of the interior announce a great number of fatalities during the heat according to a Rome dispatch to the Herald. In the province of Alessandria, Piedmont, there were 68 cases of sunstroke and 12 deaths. At Palermo, in Sicily 28 sunstrokes and 5 deaths. At Messina 12 sunstrokes and 2 deaths and at Bari 8 sunstrokes and 2 deaths. A Berlin dispatch states that the record-breaking heat of [illegible] [illegible]

COTTON CONTINUES ITS UPWARD STRIDE

Exciting Scenes Witnessed On the Floor Of Exchanges.

WEATHER REPORTS ARE BULLISH

It is Believed that the June Acreage Report Had Underestimated Percentage of Decrease—Net Advance of $2.50 Per Bale.

New Orleans, July 11.—With prices bounding upward there was an exciting scene at the opening of the cotton market the opening quotations going beyod 11c for the active positions. Immediately after the opening the advance ran as high as 65 points, October selling at 11:32. Various causes contributed the advance, the chief factor, however, being exceedingly favorable weather reports. Heavy rains and floods were reported from sections of the cotton belt. There was also a belief in the minds of the brokers that if the results of the investigations of the scandal in the bureau of statistics of the government influenced anything, it was that the bad state of the crop had been concealed.

In view of the Wilson report and the rains reported in the south there was unusual interest in the opening of the market after the holiday and the ring side was jammed before the gong sounded. The effect of the large advance at Liverpool in conjunction with the influences mentioned became immediate evident in the frantic efforts to buy cotton and the market went upward in leaps and bounds before former bull interests checked the movement. By 10 o'clock there was a net advance of from 53 to 67 points, October selling at 11:30, December 11.46 and January at 11.53. Interests which fear a heavy reaction from an abnormal advance in the market, carrying prices below what the conditions of the crop warrant, made large offerings of cotton which served to arrest the advance and caused a decline of from 15 to 17 points, October receding to 11.15, December to 11.17 and January to 11.26.

The market did not remain long at the decline. Bull interests brought about a fresh reaction and prices began to ascend, creeping back toward the figures recorded shortly after the opening.

Early in the afternoon the advance from Saturday's closing ranged from 49 to 52 points, October selling at 11.29 December at 11.31 and January at 11.34.

New York Market.

New York, July 11.—An advance of more than $2 a bale was recorded in the cotton market here today on reports of heavy rains in the west, private advices of crop damage and the belief that the June acreage report of thebureau of statistics had underestimated the percentage of decrease. The movement was accompanied by great activity and excitement. All options in the local market sold over the 11 cent mark during the first few minutes of trading. October after opening at 10.8 advanced to 11.21, a little more than $2 a bale over the closing figures of Saturday. Other months were equally strong and excited.

At midday the market was still very excited and feverish with shorts still covering, and a continued demand through wire and commission houses to absorb the heavy profit-taking of old longs. Prices were about 48 to 53 points net higher.

Pickpockets Rob Passengers.

REPLY TO DR. KELLEY.

J. A. Ormond Assumes Responsibility of "Fair Play."

The following communication was inadvertently misplaced, which accounts for delay in publishing same:

Windsor, Fla., July 1.—Editor Sun: Please grant me a short space in the columns of your valuable paper, in which to review briefly the article in The Sun of the 29th ult. entitled, "Fair Play Answered," and signed by Dr. Kelley. In that I have been charged with being false and of attempting to misrepresent Dr. Kelley and the School Board. A few words by way of explanation and self vindication will not be amiss, after which I shall leave it to the "honest public" to decide who is the prejudiced party in the case, or who is attempting to misrepresent facts.

The "tramp teacher," "sorehead," "disgruntled individual" and "medlesome knight of the quill," who, in a courteous letter in your paper of the 20th ult., asked an explanation of certain things done by the School Board, is J. A. Ormond of Windsor, who, having taught eight terms in the public schools of Alachua county, needs no introduction to most of the readers of The Sun. Since the promulgation by our forefathers of freedom of speech and of the press it has never been considered out of order for any public servant to have his acts discussed in print. But such is the arrogance of this saw mill graduate and defunct pill-roller, who, by a majority of five votes, has been placed at the head of Alachua county's school offices, that he replies to a polite inquiry in a half-column of vituperation and abuse. Instead of making a single attempt to justify the action in question he is content with vilifying the inquirer and in the same suave, guileless manner, which with certain other influences won for him his handsome (?) majority in the election of last year, thinks to sidetrack the issue.

Though not a member of the board and without the power of a single vote in that body, Dr. Kelley takes upon himself the responsibility for their action and upon the unvarying principle that "a hit dog always hollers," we readily concede him that responsibility. And now for a few facts in the case:

At the April meeting of the Alachua County Board of Public Instruction, a petition asking the board for my appointment as teacher of the summer school at Trenton was presented to the board by the supervisor of that school, bearing the names of every patron in the district. I submitted my application at the same time. Within the next few days I received a letter from the supervisor of Trenton school inclosing a letter from Dr. Kelley, in which he denied having received my application, but asked him to inform me of the ruling which the board had made at that meeting, (for my special benefit as everyone can see) i. e., that no teacher who had taught outside the county could receive summer work in the county unless he should agree to teach the winter term of the school as well. Although I knew that the ruling was made to suit my particular case and to gratify Dr. Kelley's political spite against me and was in fact an export facto law, I could not but concede the right of the board to favor those teachers who have always taught in the county, and so gracefully bowed in submission. And now comes the point of inconsistency.

Dr. Kelley in his article says: "We do not propose to allow new comers to deprive home teachers of work during the dull season and then go away and leave but three months work for some of our teachers." Then why did Dr. Kelley appoint Prof. G. W. Bonner to a summer term at Santa Fe, when Dr. Kelley knew that he would teach in another county for the winter term in the same school year? Does he deny this? Hear the proof: Supt. Dickinson of Hillsboro county told me in his office in Tampa three weeks ago, in the presence of my wife, that Prof. Bonner had accepted a school in that county for the coming term, which school he had procured upon the recommendation of Dr. Kelley. Now, Mr. Bonner is, according to Dr. Kelley's definition, a "tramp teacher," since he is leaving the county after teaching but one term, while I, another "tramp teacher," was raised and educated in the county and never taught outside the county until last year. Now in the face of these things, what does the "honest public" think of Dr. Kelley's "ideas of law and justice?" I am not making a personal fight on Dr. Kelley—so much the better for him; and having presented the facts in the case, I leave it in the hands of the "honest public" and intend to have no more to say on the subject. Any further personalities in which he may wish to engage will, I trust, be conducted personally.

To Prof. Bonner, whom I have not met, I offer my most sincere apology for the use of his name in connection with the affair and assure him that no offence is intended.

As to my prestige as a teacher, upon which Dr. Kelley has attempted to cast a slur, it is a significant fact that my opportunities are not limited by the boundaries of any particular county, and it is a fact of which I am a trifle proud, that in the face of my being "turned down" by Dr. Kelley and his board, I was the first teacher in the State to receive recognition at the hands of the State Board of Education and Board of Control, a body almost as eminent as the Alachua County Board of Public Instruction.

Very respectfully,
J. A. ORMOND.

To force it into the public educational institutions is to interfere with the growth of a finer and larger human brotherhood."

Y., July 11.—Albert Dunham, 75 years old, a wealthy resident of Eagle Mills, a suburb of this city, is bemoaning the loss of his 25-year-old wife who disappeared with Ralph Reynolds, a young milkman. EXPLOSION KILLS EIGHT MEN.

Premature Blast of Rock Powder Hurls Them Into Eternity.

Harrisbur, Pa., July 11.—Eight men were blown to pieces and two others were injured by the premature explosion of a big blast of rock powder on the Pennsylvania railroad improvements near New Cumberland. The accident occurred directly across the Susquehanna river from the scene of the Pennsylvania railroad wreck on May 17, in which 23 persons were killed and many others wounded.

All the victims of the disaster were employees of F. J. Kerbaugh & Co., incorporated, contractors, who are building the double tracks for the Pennsylvania railroad to connect with the Enola yards. The bodies of the men were terribly mangled and particles of flesh and bone were scattered for 200 yards from the scene of the explosion.

STATE'S CASH IN BROKEN BANK.

Kansas' Governor Will Demand Resignation of State Treasurer.

Topeka, Kans., July 11.—Another conference of attorneys was held to discuss the situation arising from the loss of state funds in the defunct First National bank. It was announced that Governor Hoch will demand the resignation of State Treasurer T. T. Kelly on the ground of improper conduct in office and that Kelly will resist the demand. The matter probably will have to be settled in the courts.

Governor Hoch is understood as being extremely anxious to secure the resignation of Kelly. Considerable difficulty arises from the fact that all the laws which were especially designed for cases like the present one were repealed by the last session of the state legislature. Some definite action will be taken early.

Killed Woman and Buried Body.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 11.—With the back of the head crushed in, mutilated from head to foot and several bones broken, the body of a woman was found buried in the cellar of a house in the northeastern part of the city, formerly the home of Charles Bluhm, a German, who died in a hospital on May 10. The police believe that Bluhm mudred the woman, who was his housekeeper, and buried the body in the cellar to hide the crime. A hole had been dug in the middle of the cellar and a quantity of quick lime thrown in. The body was then placed in the hole and covered with earth.

A MORNING TRAGEDY OCCURRED AT HAGUE

Officer Hague Was Compelled to Kill Man He Tried to Arrest.

MANY SHOTS WERE EXCHANGED

Officer Hague Attempted to Arrest Will Hunter Upon a Charge of Carrying Concealed Weapons—Hague Shot Five Times.

There was a tragedy at Hague Tuesday morning when Deputy Sheriff W C. Hague, in an attempt to arrest William Hunter, was compelled to kill him to save his own life, according to reports. Deputy Sheriff Hague, it is said, was struck by balls from Hunter's pistol five times before he succeeded in bringing the man to the ground.

From the best information obtainable, it appears that Officer Hague approached Hunter and attempted to arrest him. Hunter resisted arrest and stepped backward, immediately drawing a pistol, when he opened fire. Officer Hague, realizing his danger, pulled his own pistol and began to fire, with the result that he killed his man.

Officer Hague was taken to his home and medical assistance was summoned from Gainesville. Examination showed that Hague was hit five times below the abdomen, every shot from Hunter's pistol taking effect. While the wounds are painful, the physician states that they will not necessarily prove serious and that the patient will recover.

The community regrets the occurrence, as both men are well known in the Hague settlement.

Hunter was about twenty-three years old and was the son of Hiram Hunter, a well-known farmer of that section.

The funeral of the dead man will occur today.

PALATKA IS DELIGHTED.

Next to Gainesville, Gem City Folks Are Happiest in the State.

Among the faculty at the University Normal, now in session in this city, is Professor I. I. Himes, principal of the Palatka High School, who was appointed by the Board of Control to the position of professor of rhetoric, literature, composition and arithmetic, on account of his efficiency in these studies. Prof. Himes taught in a normal in this city about twelve years ago, when he was less experienced than now, but was then a good man, and he declares at that time he formed an attachment for the city which he could never forget.

"I am very much impressed with Gainesville," he said to The Sun man, in front of the Brown House, "and note with a great deal of satisfaction the rapid improvements that have been made here from year to year, but which seem to be most prominent for the past four or five years."

"But speaking of the University," ventured the reporter, "what do the Palatka people think of the decision?"

"Well, if you had not interrupted me," replied Prof. Himes, "I was going to say that we are all delighted, and, next to Gainesville folks, I do not believe there is a better satisfied element as a whole in the State. Palatka has always been on friendly terms with Gainesville and its people, and everybody knows that we have been openly in favor of Gainesville since the beginning, as the press of our city will indicate. We felt almost like celebrating ourselves when the news came, and you may feel sure that next to Palatka, Gainesville is undoubtedly the place for the University, and you got no more than you deserved."

Prof. Himes is one of the most competent instructors of the State. He was tendered the position of principal of the Gainesville Graded and High School at one time, but declined because of the fact that he already held one of the best positions of a similar character in the State.

North Gainesville Improving.

It is evident that the suburb of North Gainesville has gained new life and vigor since being incorporated into the city of Gainesville. Notwithstanding that the suburb has always been progressive, being inhabited by progressive people, new confidence seems to have been restored since the territory has been made a "part and parcel" of the University City, and many improvements are being contemplated. Among these improvements is the erection of several cottages by O. B. Bailey, and the material is [illegible] being delivered upon the ground. [illegible] cottages will be [illegible] and will be

Will be Out and Before Public in a Few Days—Complete Work.

The Gainesville Directory is progressing nicely, and the publisher hopes to have the work before the public in a few days.

Compiling, classifying and publishing a directory "from the ground up" is by no means an easy task, hence the compiler has been a little longer than he expected in this work, being hampered by his regular duties besides, which requires several hours out of twenty-four. However, he has made the work a complete encyclopedia, and it is believed that it will be appreciated by the public when it reaches their hands.

The books will be bound in cloth, handsomely printed and illustrated on the heaviest coated book paper that could be secured, and, as has been said before, will be a credit to any city of three times the population.

DESERVED APPOINTMENTS.

Professors Floyd and Lynch Will Teach at Lake City Next Term.

Profs. W L. Floyd and George M. Lynch have been appointed by President Andrew Sledd of the University of Florida to be professors at the next term of the University of Florida, which will be held in Lake City, preparatory to the erection of the University buildings here.

Both gentlemen are well known educators and are now engaged on the faculty of the University Normal, which is in session here. Friends extend congratulations, with the assurance that no two more competent men in their respective branches could have been secured.

The Boss Worm Medicine.

H. P. Kumpe, druggist, Leighton, Ala., writes: "One of my customers had a child which was sick, and threw up all food, could retain nothing on its stomach. He bought one bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge, and it brought up 110 worms from the child. It's the boss worm medicine in the world." White's Cream Vermifuge is also the children's tonic. It improves their digestion and assimilation of food, strengthens their nervous system and restores them to the health, vigor and elasticity of spirits natural to childhood. Sold by W. M. Johnson.

Girl Prevents Jail Delivery.

Birmingham, Ala., July 11.—John and James Roper, two white men, who were placed in the Ensley jail charged with highway robbery, made a desperate attempt to escape. When Warden Harris took the men their breakfast James Raper attacked him, while the other ran for the door. Mr. Harris' little girl secured a pistol in the office and held the escaping man at bay, and with the assistance of a negro trusty, James, who was struggling with the warden, was finally forced back into his cell, after which John, on whom the little girl was holding the pistol, was also locked up.

Wife Murderer on Trial.

Raleigh, N. C., July 11.—Newbern has a very sensational trial, that of John Patterson, for the murder of his wife under circumstances of peculiar horror. The crime was committed last winter. He had separated from her some time before, and one night, it is charged, he went to her home and crept in her room with a can of oil, which he poured upon her and the bad, and then applied a torch. The woman was burned to death, no one being near enough to aid her.

Big Flood in Minnesota.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 11.—The flood in the Mississippi apparently has reached its highest point, after being steadily for three weeks. Lumbermen believe there is no further danger to be apprehended from the great log jam at Camden and unless heavy rains take place, the worst is thought to be over. Hundreds of homes along the Mississippi have been abandoned by their owners, and they will not be reoccupied until the flood subsides.

SCORPIONS AND SPIDERS.

Points In Common Between These Loathsome Animals.

"Between the spiders and scorpions, those grayish, lobster-like foes of every living thing, which lurk in old walls and beneath the debris of ruins, silent, patient, giving the sting that kills and then sucking the victim's blood, there are points in common," writes F. G. Afialo the traveler and writer of London. This very habit of sucking blood is shared by them, for the scorpion does not tear its victim's flesh with pinchers, like a crayfish, but sucks the juices through a small and tubular mouth not unlike that of spiders. Both of them breathe through lung openings in the abdomen, and in each the number of legs is eight, not six, as in insects. The latter class, which form the food of the smaller spiders, are erroneously regarded as safe if they have wings to fly. Even in England there are spiders which run so swiftly and leap with such precision that, apart from the aid of webs, few but the largest insects are secure from their attacks. In Australia there are parachuting spiders which sail obliquely down from the tree tops, and these must be deadly to encounter. Let us give the spider its due. Even those who willingly concede its diligence grudge it the undeniable attribute of cleanliness.

"Few created animals are more loathsome than the scorpion. There is a graceful beauty in the deadliest snake, in the fierce tiger, even in the banded wasps and hornets, but in the scorpion there is nothing but foulness. The creature's bite varies in its results, possibly according to the condition of the scorpion itself, but more probably according to that of the person bitten. I know of one case of a man, an American, who was repeatedly bitten by scorpions without on any occasion suffering more than a few hours of discomfort. In Morocco I have seen lads handle scorpions without a sign of fear, letting them crawl on the palms of their hands, even laying them on their eyes, and all for a quarter of a dollar! I was told at the time that the skin of the open hand stretched tight gave the scorpion no purchase with which to get its weapons in play.

"What was, however, far more remarkable was the patent indifference with which a gang of Moorish masons went to work barefooted to pull down an old building in the full knowledge that every blow of their picks on the falling walls set fresh scorpions free to writhe over their feet and legs, for they were buried in the accumulating rubbish almost up to the knees. To their way of thinking the creature's reputation was more evil than its bite."

The Indian Pachofsha.

A pachofsha is a feast and a part of the incantation and superstitious ceremony conducted over the sick by the lower class of ignorant Indians.

When a man is thought to be sick enough to require the services of a doctor he is put into a hut, and for three days no one except the doctor sees him. The doctor goes into the woods and gathers herbs, from which he prepares a potion for the sick man and then keeps a lonely vigil with him. At the end of the third day, if the patient is not improved, the order is given to prepare a pachofsha. Corn and meat, either beef, pork or game, are put in a large kettle and stewed until the corn is soft.

All the relatives of the sick man are entitled to attend, and they gather around the kettle for the feast. The sick man is brought out and served first. He is fed as much as his stomach can hold, and the others then turn in and devour the remainder of the stew. When this is concluded a bonfire is built and lighted, and the crowd circles around and dances to the time of a weird chant. After this, if the sick man does not show signs of getting better, nothing more is done for him, and he dies or gets well by act of Providence.—Oklahoma Times-Journal.

A VALUABLE REMEMBRANCE.

Ex-Trainmaster M. H. McClamroch Receives Chest of Solid Silver.

If there is anything on earth that should make a man feel supreme it is the esteem of his friends, especially those who have worked as his inferiors in rank. Esteem is one of the most sacred things in the world, and when a man has the esteem and confidence and friendship of his fellow-man, he has in heart a fortune.

M. H. McClamroch, for several months trainmaster on the West Coast division of the Atlantic Coast Line, is one of the men. Notwithstanding the fact that he was in that responsible position, which he held with credit and ability for less than a year, he made a friend of every man in the employ of that division, from conductor to brakeman, because he treated them right, and required them to treat him right and perform their duty.

Mr. McClamroch, who is now connected with the train dispatcher's office in this city, and who holds what is commonly known among railroad men as the "first trick," being a day position ending at 4 o'clock, received a message from Division Superintendent Ford to report at his office at 8:30 sharp Monday evening. Mr. McClamroch was naturally puzzled at this instruction, as it was out of the ordinary, but obeyed the demand. Upon reaching the office of the superintendent he noted the presence of a score of old friends and associates, but was more surprised when Captain J. N. Strobhar, in behalf of the employes of the West Coast division, arose and made a few brief but eloquent remarks in the form of a presentation speech, concluding with reading the following letter:

"Lakeland, July 8, 1905.

"M. H. McClamroch,
Gainesville.

Dear Sir: We, the undersigned, in behalf of the transportation employes of the West Coast, in token of our high esteem and of the appreciation we feel for the considerate and friendly attitude you have manifested in all your dealings with those of us over whom your jurisdiction has extended, present you with this chest of silver, with the assurance that as long as life lasts we shall cherish the pleasant memory we now have of you, and that our best wishes for a brighter and happier future for you accompany you wherever you may go.

(Signed):
"H. B. CONNELLY, chief dispatcher,
"J. C. SWINDELL, dispatcher,
"W. C. NORVELL, conductor,
"O. M. EATON, conductor,
"Committee."

The "chest of silver" comprised a handsome quarter-sawed oak box with brass trimmings, which contained fifty-six pieces of fine sterling table silver, comprising everything from a soup ladle to a nut pick. It was a handsome assortment, and upon each article was engraved the monogram, "M. H. M."

Mr. McClamroch was so completely taken by surprise that he could hardly speak for a moment, so overcome by emotion, but he finally managed to "get himself together," when he acknowledged the token in a most appropriate, friendly and impressive manner.

Exclusion Question in Statue Quo.

Pekin, July 11.—The American exclusion question is still in statue quo. It is generally considered here that an armistice between the Japanese and Russian forces is unlikely.

HAIR TELLS CHARACTER.

Color of Hair Said to Indicate a Person's Temperament.

Many people believe that blonde, or light hair denotes affection and dark hair constancy. A person without hair is not devoid of character; far from it. The disposition of the average baldheaded man is to show such solicitude for the welfare of others, that he neglects himself. A germ causes baldness. Prof. Sabouraud, of Paris, France, inoculated a rabbit with Dandruff germs, causing it to become totally bald in five weeks' time. To rid the scalp of these dangerous germs it is necessary to apply Newbro's Herpicide.

MR. LINDSAY'S HUMOR.

Wrote Rev. Thomas P. Hay a Sincere but Humorous Congratulation.

Rev. W. C. Lindsay, the eminent Presbyterian divine of Ocala, who delivered the last commencement sermon of East Florida Seminary, writes Rev. Thomas P. Hay of this city as follows:

"I want to congratulate the people of Gainesville, through you, on account of the victory gained for the University of Florida. I suppose they are glad that I preached the funeral sermon over the East Florida Seminary. That is the way they expressed it to me when I went up to perform that service."

Capt. H. M. de Montmollin of Palatka, a member of the Governor's staff, also writes Mr. Hay in congratulation.

Boy Drowned in Surf.

Savannah, Ga., July 11.—Charlie Keller, a boy of 14, was drowned at Wilmington island, where he was in bathing with a party. Young Keller who was a very good swimmer, dived off the end of a pier. The strong tide swept him off and he could not make his way back. He screamed for help, and A. F. Peeples, his brother-in-law, swam to his assistance, but failed to reach him before the boy had sunk for the third time. Mr. Peeples himself was overcome by his exertions, and it was not until after he had gone down twice that a boat reached him, and he was hauled in.

Feel Impending Doom.

The feeling of impending doom in the minds of many victims of Bright's disease and diabetes has been changed to thankfulness by the benefit derived from taking Foley's Kidney Cure. It will cure incipient Bright's disease and diabetes and even in the worst cases gives comfort and relief. Slight disorders are cured in a few days. "I had diabetes in its worst form," writes Marion Lee of Dunreath, Ind. "I tried eight physicians without relief. Only three bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure made me a well man." J. W. McCollum & Co.

Nothing helped me, until I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which gave instant relief, and effected a permanent cure." Unequalled quick cure for throat and lung troubles. At all drug stores; price 50c and $1, guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

Inscriptions on Ancient Swords.

The various inscriptions found on the blades of swords may be said to constitute a literature in themselves. This "cutlery poetry," as Shakespeare calls it, is not the least interesting feature of a sword collection. Hundreds of Toledo rapiers were engraved with the wise counsel, "Do not draw me without reason; do not sheathe me without honor." On an old Ferrara blade is the following inscription: "My value varies with the hand that holds me." A battleax of formidable appearance bears the comfortable assurance, "When I go up you go down," and on an old Hungarian sword is inscribed, "He that thinks not as I do thinks falsely." Besides the mottoes on the blades are engraved the maker's name and address or the owner's arms. During the sixteenth century warriors regarded elaborately ornamented hilts with as much interest as we look on works of art at the present day. The blades of Italian swords were also sometimes beautifully ornamented.

Where Eyesight Is Good.

The best eyesight is possessed by those people whose lands are vast and barren and where obstacles tending to shorten the sight are few. Eskimos will detect a white fox in the snow at a great distance away, while the Arabs of the deserts of Africa have such extreme powers of vision that on the vast plains of the desert they will pick out objects invisible to the ordinary eye at ranges from one to ten miles distant. Among civilized people the Norwegians have better eyesight than most, if not all, others, as they more generally fulfill the necessary conditions. The reason why defective eyes are so much on the increase in England and in America lies in too much study of books in early life and in badly lighted rooms.—London Standard.

Novel Oyster Parties.

Oyster parties are the great diversion of the Spanish gentlemen who pay family visits to Vigo. The party goes out in a large flat bottomed boat. Then the oysters are fished up, opened and eaten on the spot, and a prize goes to the guest who can show most shells at the end of the day. In excuse it may be said that the Vigo oyster is small, for a prize winner will sometimes show as many as 200 shells.

FREE ADVERTISING.

Many of the newspapers of Florida are making an effort to get their just dues and put a check on the large amount of free advertising that is being bestowed on institutions and concerns that are not entitled to it. We hope to see them keep it up until something is done to benefit the fraternity.

The columns of a newspaper, as well as the paper itself, are the stock in trade of a publisher just as much as the goods on the shelves of any mercantile establishment. The man who buys five dollars' worth of merchandise at a store does not expect to have the merchant give him fifteen or twenty cents worth of something else he has in stock, to show there is no coolness, yet many men expect a free puff when they pay for an advertisement in a paper, which costs the publisher just as much to produce as does the goods the merchant has for sale.

Go to the shoe man for a pair of laces for your shoes and you plank down your two or five cents for them, yet the same fellow will come to the newspaper office and say "Give me a copy of the last paper," and on receiving it walk out of the door and say "Thanks" as he is passing out.

It takes money to buy print paper of the biggest trust in the United States, presses are very expensive that are used to print the paper on, and when you come to gather the news, set the type and get out several hundred papers at a "Thank you" each, filled with puffs of some "darned good fellows," you are liable to wake up some day and find an overdraft at the bank.

All public institutions are sure of getting all they deserve from the press, and many private enterprises come in for as much as they deserve, but the press of the State each year does a heap of free advertising that should be paid for in cash.

This same complaint regarding free advertising is not confined to any one city, or to the State of Florida, but is epidemic all over the United States, and as the running of a newspaper has now come to be a matter of business, it is necessary that business methods should be adopted.

UNIVERSITY ECHOES.

The selection of Gainesville as the location and Dr. Sledd as the president of the State University seems to be approvable. The retention of the Lake City buildings for use the next school year shows a vein of practical good sense in the boards of management. Those boards so far appear to have done well and to aim at the best results, and until they show incompetency or a different disposition they are entitled to support and endorsement.—Tampa Daily Times.

Gainesville should bear in mind, and her zealous friends, too, that it pays to be generous to a fallen foe.—Jacksonville Times-Union.

The people of Gainesville always were and always will be "generous to a fallen foe," and at no time do they ever forget to be ladies and gentlemen. They have not said aught to injure the feelings of any one, and hope they may never be called on to do so. Only a friendly contest has taken place, with never a word against any competitor.

GOOD FOR GAINESVILLE.

The Board of Control has selected Gainesville as the site for the State University for males. The action was taken at the session last night in Tallahassee, after the claims of both Gainesville and Lake City had been eloquently presented by delegations from those cities, and the vote was six to four.

It is safe to assert that seventy-five per cent, if not more, of the people of this section were in favor of the selection of Gainesville, consequently the decision of the board gives very general satisfaction. — The Tampa Times, 7th.

HOW THEY VOTED.

According to information obtained from The White Springs Herald, the members of the Board of Control voted as follows:

According to the same authority three members of the Board of Control voted for Lake City, while every member of the State Board of Education voted for Gainesville, except Governor Broward, and we give them the assurance that they will never live to see the day they will regret their action through any fault of our people.

NO ANTI-CIGARETTE LAW.

The expression has gone out and it has been published in many papers that a law was passed at the last session of the Legislature prohibiting the sale of cigarettes and cigarette papers. It is not the fact, however, as no such law was submitted to the Governor for his signature.

RIGHT HANDED FOLKS

WHY ARE THEY SO VERY LARGELY IN THE MAJORITY?

There Are Two Factors in the Problem, an Inherited Tendency and Constant Practice—The Origin of the Innate Proclivity.

That the great majority of persons use the right hand with greater skill than the left is doubtless due to two influences—an innate proclivity and constant practice. The preference shown by most infants at the age of one year for the use of the right hand proves that there is an inherited tendency. Further evidence of it is found in the greater ease with which any entirely new act is performed by the right than by the left hand. Training, however, is an important factor. A mature person, having lost the right hand by accident, can achieve wonders with the other if he only exercises patience, perseverance and a strong will.

The more mysterious of the two factors in this problem is the inborn tendency. How did it arise? There are exceptions to the rule. Perhaps two out of every hundred babies are left handed. But when you stop to think of it the natural inclination of the other ninety-eight is remarkable. A great many physiologists have speculated in regard to its cause without reaching any conclusion upon which all could agree.

Dr. George M. Gould says in the Popular Science Monthly that right handedness is so thoroughly ingratiated in human nature that it must have been partially developed in the savage ancestors of the race. Primitive man, in his opinion, must have felt a definite need for the exercise of his right hand in preference to his left, and that necessity must have been recognized and obeyed for a long period continuously. The impulse could not well have dictated his habits in eating, for knives and forks are of recent origin, the modern gun had not been invented, and writing was practically unknown. Moreover, in such operations as chipping arrowheads, weaving baskets and wielding clubs, bows and arrows it could not have mattered much which hand was employed.

When warfare had been carried to such a stage of advancement as to involve the use of a shield, however, that object was probably held on the left side in order to protect the heart. Then as a matter of convenience the right arm was left free for the more active function of fighting with spear and sword, and with habitual exercise came special skill. An attendant phenomenon was a finer organization of that particular center in the brain which controlled these movements and which was situated in the left half of the organ. The brain is the real seat of all dexterity, and something takes place there in correspondence with external efficiency. With an increased use of the right hand, Dr. Gould thinks, there must have been greater demands upon the right eye, because vision must precede the order to strike or to give peaceful signals. In this way there may have been developed a keener power of vision in the right eye than in the left. Dr. Gould assumes that there was and declares that "right handed people are right eyed" and that in their brains the center of vision is on the left side, in close proximity to that governing the right arm.

While civilization was yet at a low level communication was carried on, especially with strangers, largely in the sign language. Barter laid the foundations of arithmetic and called into play the digits. The preference already given to the right hand in battle may have guided men in the choice for this service and also in official and social ceremonies. Computation, Dr. Gould points out, was an intellectual process which was conducted in the speech center of the brain. Nature was compelled to take sides in locating the latter, and she placed it to the left of the middle. Dr. Gould thinks that the choice was governed by the employment of the right hand for giving signals. So intimately related are the functions of speech and vision and the control of the muscular efforts with the right arm that action would be quicker if the cerebral centers controlling them were closely associated.

Before discussing the cause of left handedness Dr. Gould calls attention to the fact that with right handed people the left hand is occasionally called upon to perform a task of greater importance than its mate. In eating the fork is used more than the knife. In playing a violin or violoncello the fingering is done with the left hand and the bowing with the right. It is suggested that some of these operations may result from the superiority of the right eye. Perhaps the latter can watch and guide them better when they are performed with the left than with the right hand.

Left handedness is considered by Dr. Gould an inheritance from ancestors, savage or civilized, who were obliged by some misfortune to abandon the use of the right hand. As even more unfortunate individuals he thinks, would have believes, there followed a change in the organization of the brain. Owing to disease the center, which had formerly controlled action, lost its vigor and that on the opposite side acquired increased power. Dr. Gould says that the speech center was also transferred from the left side to the right of the brain in consequence. In the transmission of the cerebral peculiarity to offspring he finds the key to the manifestation of left handedness at a tender age.—New York Tribune.

TRICKS OF ANIMALS.

Instances of Where Deceit Takes the Place of Courage.

There are a surprising number of Quaker animals—animals whose regular method of self protection is to offer no resistance to their enemies.

The possum's trick of "shamming dead" is an old story. A writer in the London Spectator cites several other cases of combined cunning and meekness. The hedgehog, the porcupine, the Australian echidnas and some of the armadillos refuse to fight, but they are protected by sharp spines or armor. Some of the armadillos are great diggers and take refuge in holes, while porcupines often hide in hollow logs or trees.

Among marine animals is a starfish, often called the "brittle star," which is the despair of collectors. It seems to make it a point of pride that none of its family shall be shown in a bottle or on a museum shelf. When taken from the water this starfish throws off its legs and also its stomachs. The story is told of one collector who thought that he had succeeded in coaxing a specimen into a pail, only to see it dismember itself at the last moment.

W. H. Hudson describes the death feigning habits of a small South African fox common on the pampas. If caught in a trap or overtaken, it collapses as if dead and to all appearances is dead. "The deception is so well carried out that dogs are constantly taken in by it. When one withdraws a little way from a feigning fox and watches him very attentively a slight opening of the eye may be detected. Finally, when left to himself, he does not recover and start up like an animal that has been stunned, but slowly and cautiously raises his head first and only gets up when his foes are at a distance. I was once riding with a gaucho when we saw on the open level ground in front of us a fox not yet fully grown standing still and watching our approach. All at once it dropped, and when we came up to the spot it was lying stretched out, with eyes closed and apparently dead. Before passing on my companion, who said it was not the first time that he had seen such a thing, lashed it vigorously with his whip for some moments without producing the slightest effect."

Dogs show much the same tendency when they lie down meekly, with their heads down and tails tucked in, and invite a beating. Puppies are just as good at this as hardened veterans.

Some kinds of beetles, many of the woolly caterpillars which have poisonous hairs on their backs and numerous spiders adopt similar tactics. Even the weed louse has the same trick and rolls itself into a ball.

In the whole animal kingdom if anything runs away there is always found something to run after it. The badger, which defends itself wickedly when attacked, is often used for baiting.

Perhaps the commonest instance of passive resistance is the land tortoise, which draws up its front piece and pulls in its head and legs and defies its foes by locking them out.

Mistakes Attract Attention.

The average person takes pleasure in calling attention to errors in spelling or grammar in signs. The mistakes furnish them a temptation to display their knowledge that is hard to resist.

"Every now and then," said a local haberdasher the other day, "I fix up a window sign with a misspelled word or an error in grammar in it. Dozens of people drop in to tell me where it's wrong. Of course I act surprised and thank them. Then the chances are I sell them something."

At a Kansas City theater there used to be an advertising curtain which bore the word "versus" \spelled "verses." The word attracted more comment than many of the acts did. It made people talk about the theater, and in the theatrical business to get the public to talking about things is the first step toward money making. So many people began to bother the house manager about the misspelled word, however, that he finally had to have it changed.—Kansas City Times.

Badly Brought Up Soldiers.

During an official massacre at the village of Kouklish the Turkish commandant—a fat major—slept and smoked in the shade of a tree near the scene of carnage. The trumpet sounded for the assault, and the soldiers proceeded to rob, kill, burn and violate. The trumpet next sounded the retreat, but the troop refused to obey, and the fat major continued to sleep and smoke. When spoken to about the excesses of his men, he replied: "What can one [illegible] They are so badly brought up!"—

MISSOURI RIVER BOATS.

Trips of the Old Side Wheelers In the Early Days.

In the early days there was a regular line of packets between St. Louis and St. Joseph, all side wheelers, and the average round trip occupied eight days. A boat left St. Louis every day for the Missouri river, and as there were fourteen boats in the line each boat made a round trip once every two weeks during the season. During the winter the boats ran between St. Louis and New Orleans.

Coming up the river the boats ran all night, but in going down they always laid up as soon as darkness set in. In going down the river the boats usually left St. Joseph early in the afternoon and laid up for the night at Weston, where there was always a lot of freight to load. The next day they went to Lexington, the next to Boonville and the next to St. Louis. Occasionally during high water a boat would leave Lexington at daylight and reach St. Louis in time for breakfast the next morning.

The boats carried from 200 to 400 passengers on the trip up the river, counting the immigrants on the deck, but going back they only had cabin passengers. The cabin fare from St. Louis to St. Joseph ranged from $10 to $15, which included meals and stateroom. The boats were all supplied with fine cooks, and the passengers lived on the best that money could buy.

The average boat carried 500 to 600 tons of freight in addition to passengers. During low water freight that now costs 20 cents a hundred cost $2.50 a hundred. The expense of a round trip from St. Louis to St. Joseph, including loading and unloading, was estimated at $4,000, and the income from cost to $7,000. Each boat carried a crew of from 80 to 100 men. The average value of the boats in the line was probably $45,000 each.

The boats were often on sand bars, where they sometimes remained for a day and night, but altogether the time was made surprisingly well. A pilot who had a reputation for keeping his boat off the bars commanded as high as $500 a month. Each boat was provided with two pilots, and this expense usually amounted to from $900 to $1,000 a month. All a river pilot saved he put in his watch chain. You could tell a high priced pilot by the size of the links in his gold watch chain. A rattling good first mate who knew how to handle a boat after it struck a bar received $250 a month.

Poker was a favorite river amusement, and it was not an uncommon sight to see eight or ten games going at the same time in the main cabin of a steamboat. And the playing was for actual money, which was displayed in stacks on the tables.

Among the famous boats on the river at that time were the Kate Kinney, F. G. Aubry, Morning Star, John D. Perry, Sioux City, Omaha, Carrier and the James H. Lucas. The last named made the fastest run in the history of the river—59 hours and 22 minutes from St. Louis to St. Joseph.

Light Keeper Saves Many Lives.

New Orleans, July 11.—Martin Green, keeper of the lighthouse at Beauvoir, near Pass Christian, Miss., single handed, put out from shore in a tiny catboat, rescued 20 boys, four men and two sailors from the capsized schooner on which the party from the Young Men's Christian association summer camp had embarked to attend the Biloxi regatta. The rescue took place in a squall that wrecked the schooner two miles off Beauvoir in sight of thousands of summer excursionists on the beach.

Texan Invents Cotton Picker.

Denison, Tex., July 11.—After five years of patient labor Charles B. Shreaves has perfected a cotton picker which he says will revolutionize cotton picking. A blue print device is being prepared at Dallas. The machine is attached to a wagon and can pick on two or four rows at a time, and can reach tall or small stalks. Shreaves is a poor man. Ample capital will back up the invention. The inventor claims the device can do the work of 50 pickers per day.

Unruly Antics of Automobile.

New York, July 11.—By the extraordinary antics of an unruly automobile the costly Italian marble balustrade which surrounds the building of the appellate division of the supreme court, Madison avenue and Twenty-fifth street, has been badly damaged. A length of 30 feet of fine marble was broken and it was said that the damage exceeded $8,000.

Asthma Sufferers Should Know This.

Foley's Honey and Tar has cured many cases of asthma that were considered hopeless. Mrs. Adolph Buesing, 701 West Third St., Davenport, Iowa, writes: "A severe cold contracted twelve years ago was neglected until it finally grew into asthma. The best medical skill available could not give me more than temporary relief. Foley's Honey and Tar was recommended and one fifty-cent bottle entirely cured me of asthma which had been growing on me for twelve years. If I had taken it at the start I would have been saved years of suffering." J. W. McCollum & Co.

Gold Found in City Limits.

Tacoma, July 11.—Two miners have found gold-bearing ore, assaying $40 a ton, within the city limits of Olympia. The ledge was uncovered at the falls of Percival creek. The miners have leased the ground upon which the ledge is located from Colonel F. D. Huestis, former collector of customs, and are preparing to start development. Geologists have heretofore believed that gold ore did not exist in the olympic mountains.

Baseball Players and Foot Racers!!

Louis J. Kruger, ex-champion long distance foot racer of Germany and Holland, writes Oct. 27, 1901: "During my training of eight weeks' foot races at Salt Lake City, in April last, I used Ballard's Snow Liniment to my greatest satisfaction. Therefore, I highly recommend Snow Liniment to all who are troubled with sprains, bruises or rheumatism." 25c, 50c and $1. Sold by W. M. Johnson.

BAR HARBOR.

The Early Days of This Now Famous Maine Summer Resort.

In 1688 Mount Desert and its neighborhood were granted by the French to a man named Cadillac. When Acadia was finally as a result of that long war relinquished to England it was given to Governor Bernard, but as this gentleman with the Revolution broke out was loyal to King George the estate was confiscated. Meanwhile M. Barthelemy Gregoire and his wife, Maria Theresa, who was the granddaughter of the original grantee, revived the claim of Cadillac, and it was allowed.

For years the island remained a solitary place with long stretches of unbroken forests into whose labyrinths no stranger dared venture without a guide, its soil uncleared, its future undreamed of, but artists, weary of the commonplace, found out the spot and bore to dwellers in towns glimpses of its wild charms, and now and then a world worn, brain spent man would steal away to seek the botanist's solitude and stimulus. These seekers for beauty or health would carry their own camp outfit or later would patronize the hotels.

The first summer cottage there was built on a site that was bought for $300. When fashion had put her stamp of approval upon the place land that would not have brought a dime an acre during the time of the Gregoires was sold at from $25,000 to upward of $100,000 an acre.—Four Track News.

Grinding Incense in China.

A missionary traveling down the Lan river in Mongolia says he passed thirty-one rapids in one day. At most of them were water mills for the grinding of aromatic trees into powder to make incense. The trees are chopped into small pieces and thrown into a hole in a heavy millstone, which revolves on a larger stone as the water rushes through below. In the rainy season, when the river flows full and fast, a pair of mills can grind 200 catties (266 pounds) of incense a day. It is made up into bundles of this weight and sold on the spot for fifty strings of cash (about $9).

The Original Pygmies.

African pygmies are about four feet to four feet three and a half inches high. To be in harmony with their name, however, they should measure only thirteen and a half inches in height. For the original pygmaei, whom Homer believed to live far to the south and who were warred upon by cranes and whom Herodotus knew to exist in Africa, were named after the Greek measure "pygme," literally a fist. This was supposed to be the distance from the elbow to the knuckles, reckoned at eighteen "dactyli," or fingers, equal to thirteen and a half inches.

Sea Water.

Sea water is a complicated mixture of a great variety of substances. Roughly speaking, it consists of 96½ per cent of fresh water plus 3½ per cent of mineral salts. Three-fourths of these salts are chloride of sodium, or common table salt, and the next largest constituent is chloride of magnesium. After these come sulphate of magnesium, sulphate of lime, sulphate of potash, bromide of magnesium and carbonate of lime. In addition to these substances sea water contains minute quantities of quite a variety of elements, including iodine, phosphorus and arsenic. It also contains some silver, copper, zinc, nickel, cobalt, iron and gold. There is said to be 2 cents' worth of gold in every pailful of sea water, but as yet nobody has found a way to extract it. Copper and zinc are found in some seaweeds, and certain species of coral is three-millionths silver.

Stonewall Jackson's Battles.

Stonewall Jackson's negro body servant knew before anybody else when a battle was imminent. "The general tells you, I suppose," said one of the soldiers. "Lawd, no, sir! De gin'ral nuvver tell me nothin'. I obsarvates de 'tention of de gin'ral dis way: Co'se he prays jest like we all mornin' an' night, but when he gits up two, three times in a night to pray den I rubs my eyes an' gits up, too, an' packs de haversack, ca'se I done fine out dere's gwine to be old boy to pay right away."—From Mrs. Roger A. Pryor's "Reminiscences."

Cheerfully Recommended for Rheumatism.

O. G. Higbee, Danville, Ill., writes, Dec. 2, 1901: "About two years ago I was laid up for four months with rheumatism. I tried Ballard's Snow Liniment; one bottle cured me. I can cheerfully recommend it to all suffering from like affliction." 25c, 50c and $1. Sold by W. M. Johnson.
